MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Training

Hugh:

STATINTL afternoon by [   ]n ISD. In the course of discussions with among those present I was suddenly struck with the fact that, with the proliferation of terminals already underway and which will continue at a great rate, some fundamental training in keyboard skills or, in more sophisticated terms, terminal operation, is going to be needed and, in fact, is already needed. Since the use of remote terminals is not going to be confined to any one Directorate nor in terms of access to any one computer center, I think it would be a good idea if the Office of Training looked into the feasibility of developing a couple of courses, "elementary and advanced", in terminal operation.

The Information Processing Board was briefed this
